Festival

• May I say "well done" for the Festival production of Roots (CBC-TV, December 4). Mr. Comor is to be congratulated on his sensitive adaptation of this fine play.

The acting was excellent, particularly that of Geraldine McEwan, Margery Withers, and Vanya Franck.

This was a play with a message clearly stated which is more than can be said for some of the other drama productions, to wit, A Suitable Case for Treatment. (Playdate, CBC-TV, December 2) . . .

While I am writing I would like to express my thanks for other shows such as Horizon, Let's Face It, Telescope, Question Mark, A Show from Two Cities, and Ten Seconds That Shook The World, and so on.

My hearty thanks go to whomever it was that removed Grindl from our channel.

—Mrs. R.C.D., Lloydminster.

A Priest Replies

• First of all I wish to congratulate you on the CBC Times, which is very informative and interesting.

As the writer, W.F.C. of Vulcan, Alta., suggests (Mailbag, Dec. 14-20), I too, as a priest of the Roman Catholic Church, would like "to hear discussed, openly and frankly, the role of the Roman Catholic Church in the present-day attitude of Quebec" with regard to biculturalism.

As Pope John XXIII stated, the Church has nothing to hide, as the observers at the second Vatican Council will testify.

—W.C., Cedoux, Sask.

Nightmares for the Children

• I just now turned off the TV show Thriller (Thursdays, 11:30 p.m. on CBWT). It was bad enough to watch The Alfred Hitchcock Hour (Thursdays, 10:00 p.m. on CBC-TV network). What is the matter that we cannot have any pleasant plays, or something funny? Why always these horrible programs that no one can enjoy, and which give the children nightmares?

I must say that I have been completely disgusted with your programs and certainly do not enjoy TV any more. . . .

—Mrs. A.J.M., Winnipeg.

These programs are deliberately scheduled at a late hour, so that young children are not apt to be watching. It is felt that mystery drama, like other, more pleasant, types of entertainment, plays a valid role in the balanced programming the CBC is attempting to present, although it is recognized that such entertainment does not suit the tastes of certain individuals.

IRAN:

The King's Revolution

INTERTEL visits Iran to record the story of how the Shah is bringing about his own revolution, to boost his ancient country into the 20th century. The special program is seen Wednesday, January 15 at 9:30 p.m.

EACH SUMMER the Shah of Iran and his family leave the heat of Teheran, their capital, for the cooler breezes of the Caspian Sea. They have a modest white villa, set in a pleasant garden, in a quiet tree-lined town by the sea. Two soldiers stand guard at the gates. It seems an ideal and peaceful setting for the holiday of a king and his family.

But, in fact, the villa is always empty; the two soldiers preserve nothing but the illusion that the Shah is in residence. He and his family live half a mile away, in a small house built on steel girders standing in the sea, at the end of a long jetty wide enough for only one car. The Shah's bodyguards patrol the jetty, other soldiers watch constantly from look-out posts, while still more troops circle the house in fast motor boats.

These elaborate security precautions could merely point up the fact that the Shah, like many other Middle East kings, must always be alert to the danger of assassination. One of the things that makes the Shah of Iran different and unique is the nature of his enemies.

In the West, the 44-year-old Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi is perhaps best known as something of a playboy king. He is wealthy and handsome, has had two spectacular divorces and three wives; he is a jet pilot and an avid sportsman. But the Shah is also something totally new in the modern world—a king who has become a revolutionary. He has taken on the immense task of transforming his country into a progressive, industrial nation.

The story of the Shah's attempt to bring Iran into the 20th century will be told this week in a special program on CBC Television. Iran: the King's Revolution, to be seen Wednesday, January 15 at 9:30 p.m., is another in the series of documentaries produced for the International Television Federation—Intertel.

The Shah has launched a program of social reform that could dramatically change the lives of the 22 million people over whom he rules. Ironically, it is precisely the kind of program that, elsewhere in the Middle East, has come about after a king has been deposed by a revolutionary coup. Thus, the Shah is deeply aware that the success of his gigantic task depends above all on his own survival. In these circumstances the bizarre deception of his decoy villa on the Caspian becomes meaningful, even essential. For if the Shah were

The Compelling Attraction

of LIFE at SEA

TELESCOPE presents the story of the ocean's grip on the lives of men, Friday, January 17, on CBC-TV. Included are films of modern square-riggers, and remarkable scenes of a violent storm at sea.

CHANGELESS, yet ever changing; sometimes placid, sometimes raging with murderous fury; beautiful, grand, evil, magnificent; clutching men to her grey-green bosom with icy arms; reluctantly giving up part of her store of riches to those who are strong enough and stubborn enough to wrest them from her—this is the sea, and she has a hold on men that defies explanation. After losing a father, brother or son to her sinister charms, a man may grow to hate the sea, but he cannot resist her compelling attractions.

The mystery and romance of the ocean, and the character of the men who go down to the sea in ships, make up the mood and the story of this week's edition of Telescope on CBC Television. The program, entitled Sea Fare, to be seen Friday, January 17 at 9:30 p.m., will consist of films of the ocean in many different moods, as well as conversations with some old salts who know the sea intimately, and who regard her with a strange mixture of love, hate, fear and respect. They will never be able to live far from the sound of pounding breakers.

Filmed on Canada's east coast by CBC cameraman John O'Brien from St. John's, and Walter Willis from Halifax, Sea Fare attempts to portray the danger, adventure, excitement and pure joy of sea-going as it is now and as it used to be. The script is by Farley Mowat, the noted Canadian author, who now makes his home in Newfoundland. The two old sailors who reminisce about their days at sea are Captain "Peg Leg" McKen-

Verdi's Most Popular Failure

IN 1853, Giuseppe Verdi dared to use a libretto which put psychological problems into the domain of lyric opera, to make his heroine a beautiful courtesan dying of consumption, to have richly dressed socialites and demi-mondes fraternizing on the stage, and to cloak the whole production in gloriously sentimental, highly dramatic music, including many ear-pleasing melodies. It was a dismal flop at its debut in Venice, and was denounced for its "foul and hideous horrors" by theatre-goers who preferred librettos dealing with the grandeur of monarchs, political struggles and the pomp of ritual and ceremony. Realism and personal tragedy on the opera stage seemed to them quite indecent. Besides which, Verdi's characters were undeniably bourgeois!

But La Traviata has since become one of the three most popular operas in the world, a bittersweet story of a Magdalene redeemed by a great love. The Metropolitan Opera Company presented it in its first season 80 years ago, and has repeated it consistently. Famed Australian-born soprano Joan Sutherland will sing the title role in her first Violetta performance at the Met in the broadcast on Saturday afternoon, January 11, at 2:00 p.m. Her most famous role to date is Lucia di Lammermoor, which she will sing in Moscow in June, in a new production at the Bolshoi Opera being designed especially for her.

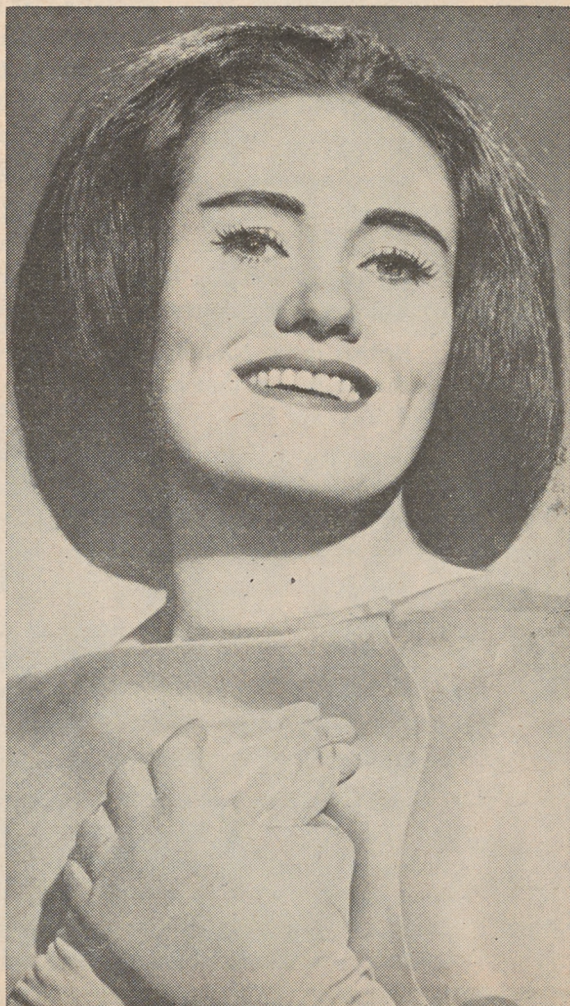

Adapted from the younger Alexandre Dumas' famous novel, The Lady of the Camellias, La Traviata tells the story of a young woman so deeply in love that she sacrifices her own happiness for the man she loves. Violetta Valery, one of the loveliest and most talented of the Parisian demi-monde, meets Alfredo Germont, falls deeply in love, and realizes the shallowness of her life until then.

Violetta and Alfredo retire to the country and live there blissfully for three months, until he learns that she is selling her jewels to maintain their establishment. He goes to Paris to raise funds and during his absence his father persuades Violetta to renounce him—if she doesn't, then Alfredo's sister will not be able to make a good marriage because of the scandal. Violetta makes the sacrifice, and tells her lover, in a note, that she has left him because of the wealthy Baron Douphol. Alfredo vows revenge and follows her to Paris. Later, at a party given by one of her friends, he turns up and wins heavily at cards. He throws his winnings at Violetta's feet, declaring that he has now paid her in full, and is reproached by his father for his insulting behaviour.

Violetta has been suffering from consumption, aggravated by her return to Paris. Finally she is left alone, impoverished and dying, attended only by her maid. Alfredo's father relents and confesses to his son that it was he who influenced Violetta to reject her lover. Alfredo rushes to her side. He asks her to marry him, but she is too weak to do more than bid him a final adieu, and dies in his arms.

Although resoundingly rejected on its debut, LA TRAVIATA has become one of the world's most popular operas. It is heard Saturday, January 11, on the Metropolitan Opera broadcast.

North American Premiere

THE LEDGE

A one-act opera by Richard Rodney Bennett

CBC Sunday Night — January 12, 8:05 p.m.

THE NORTH AMERICAN première of The Ledge, a one-act opera and the largest work to date of 27-year-old British composer Richard Rodney Bennett, will be given on CBC Sunday Night, January 12, on radio at 8:05 p.m. It will be performed by tenor Robert Peters, soprano Gloria Richard, and baritone Claude Letourneau, with a Montreal chamber orchestra conducted by Otto Werner-Mueller.

Commissioned for presentation at Sadlers Wells two years ago, the opera is built around a dramatic situation rather than a plot. It's the story of a man who is about to throw himself from the top storey of a high city building; an older clerk who was saved from the same situation 10 years before; and the would-be suicide's wife, whose ability to evoke laughter in despair prevents a disaster.

After the opera's début, The Observer noted that "The Ledge is an extraordinarily accomplished score for a composer still in his early twenties. It shows that Mr. Bennett already has more dramatic poise and operatic savoir-faire than most English composers acquire in a lifetime. In particular, his use of a small chamber orchestra reveals an ear for colour that is both precise and imaginative."

British critic Nicholas Maw believes that Bennett "possesses one of the most extraordinary talents that have arrived on the scene since the young Britten startled the world 30 years ago."

Bennett was born to a musical family: his father a well-known author of books for children and on education and drama, his mother a pupil of Holst and a talented pianist and composer, who strongly influenced her son's musical taste. He has been composing since he was six, and by his mid-teens had written an impressive list of serious works, including a fluid, assured venture into serial technique.

In 1953 he went to the Royal Academy of Music on a scholarship to study with Lennox Barclay and later with Howard Ferguson, and while there had many of his works performed at Aldeburgh, Darmstadt, and other music centres. In 1957 he went to Paris for two years to study with Pierre Boulez on a French Government scholarship and a Royal Academy grant. Now he makes his home in London.

Since 1955 he has earned his living by writing scores for such films as Indiscreet, Only Two Can Play, The Mark and Blind Date, for which he created an elegant, sophisticated modern jazz piece not unworthy of Johnny Dankworth, whom he admires tremendously. Bennett is also a talented jazz pianist and accompanist. His present ambition is to write a full-length opera.

Outdoors Adventure:

THE FOREST RANGERS

*A program sure to capture the imagination of the younger set is seen on CBC-TV
Saturdays at 5:00 p.m.*

WHEN CHUB STANLEY, a young city boy, goes to live with foster parents in the mythical northern Canadian town of Indian River, he joins the Junior Forest Rangers, who ride out with the chief Forest Ranger to help look after trees and animals in the area. They make their headquarters in an abandoned Hudson's Bay fort with a radio room built into one of its towers, equipped with portable radio transmitters and receivers, which Chub soon learns to operate.

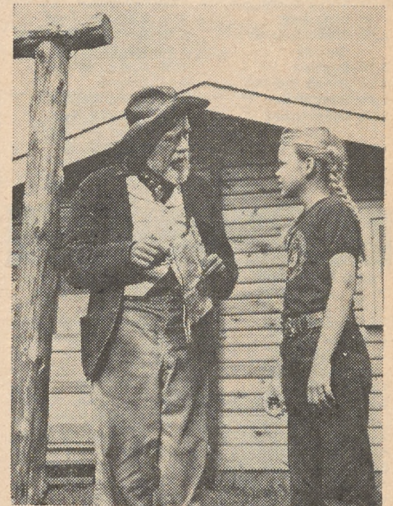

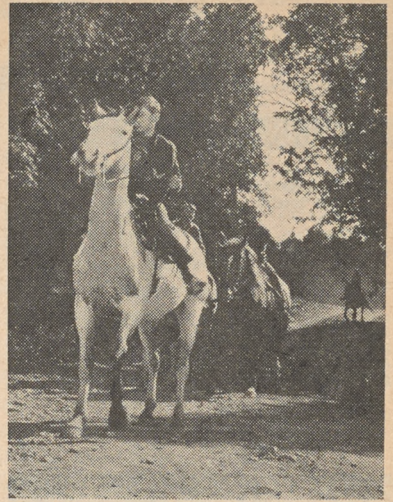

Besides caring for his horse, Charlie, roaming the forests and fields with his chief and pals, and meeting up with all sorts of wild life, and frequently, danger, he sometimes flies in a helicopter to help check on forest fires.

Chub's adventures in the outdoors are being shown on CBC-TV each Saturday afternoon at 5:00 p.m., in a half-hour series called The Forest Rangers.

Seen as Chub is 13-year-old Toronto actor Ralph Endersby, whose parents and three brothers all act, too. Rex Hagon plays Peter Keeley, young brother of the Chief Ranger and leader of the juniors. Others in the group are Mike, played by Peter Tully; a girl, Gaby LaRoche, played by Syme Jago; Zeke, played by Ron Cohoon; and Ronny, played by Paul Tully.

The cast also includes Graydon Gould as Chief Ranger George Kelly; Gordon Pinsent as Sergeant Brian Scott of the RCMP; Rolland Bedard as Uncle Raoul; Michael Zennon as Joe Two Rivers; a great Dane called Topper; and Carol, a rather worried 22-year-old shaggy brown bear from California.

CBXT—En France

The Tourist Bureau. Another in the learn-to-speak-French series. Hostess Dawn Addams tells us that John is inquiring about a good hotel at the tourist bureau, where we see the secretary harassed by a deluge of questions and 'phone calls about hotels.

CBXT—The Secret World of Children

Footprints on the Wall. A panel of local children discuss a film which deals with learning about God and his Creation, and how to use science for good and not for evil.

CBC Championship Golf

Host is Steve Douglas. Played at Jasper Park Lodge Golf Course. The second of the first round matches sees Stan Leonard playing Jack Bissegger.

Cross Canada Curling

Host is Don Wittman. Matches are played at the Rossmere Golf and Country Club. This is the fourth of 12 consecutive matches and Manitoba skip Hersh Lerner competes with Newfoundland skip John Pike.

Doug Crosley is guest of Juliette again on Saturday, in the popular musical half-hour following the hockey game.

LIFE AT SEA

zies and Captain "Machine Gun" Kelly, both of whom have led colourful and active lives. Captain Kelly vividly (and humorously) recalls being torpedoed in the Pacific during the Second World War. Captain Kelly, a former RCMP officer, recounts his adventures chasing rum runners during the days of prohibition.

"Whither, O splendid ship, thy white sails crowding," wrote Robert Bridges, "Leaning across the bosom of the urgent West . . . Whither away, fair rover, and what thy quest?" The square-rigged ship has been called the most beautiful working machine man has ever created. It is gone now, but its living memory is perpetuated by a handful of big wind-ships that still

Forest Rangers

The Foster Boy. The story of how Chub Stanley became a member of the Junior Forest Rangers.

CBXT—Journey of a Lifetime

David and Bathsheba. A series in which a young couple of today rediscover the past. This week, John and Anne visit the Kidron Valley where research is in progress at the site of the earlier Jerusalem which King David captured and made his capital.

The Beverly Hillbillies

The Girl from Home. A hillbilly neighbour of the Clampett family who knew them before they struck it rich brings his daughter to Beverly Hills. She is a former beauty contest winner and he tries to marry her off to Jethro.

Hockey Night in Canada

Bill Hewitt reports the game from Maple Leaf Gardens where the Boston Bruins play Toronto Maple Leafs.

Juliette

Special guests are singer Doug Crosley and impressionist Rich Little.

The Saint

The Ever-Loving Spouse. Simon Templar helps a businessman when he becomes involved in a blackmail plot.

sail the Western Ocean—the Portuguese Bankers that put out from the coast of Portugal in the spring and drive across the grey waters to the Grand Banks to fish for cod, using the same methods and the same type of gear that has been used for centuries by the Portuguese fishermen. Sea Fare will include film footage of these great ships and the men who sail them.

One of the highlights of the program comes during a few moments of wild, confused filming done on a small trawler during a sudden storm on the Grand Banks. Film director Gerald Richardson claims that he never encountered so rough a storm in all of his eight years in the Royal Canadian Navy, and says proudly that the footage contains one of the best storm sequences ever recorded on film.

Program Notes

JANUARY 12

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and addit'l program information

CBXT—Adventure

Kathakali. Adventure crews travelled through the waterways of Kerala, in south-west India, to film and record the extraordinary Kathakali dancers, who go through the most intensive training for 12 years before they may take even a minor part in what is one of the most exciting dance dramas in the world.

Speaking French

Today's lesson deals with simple sentence construction, and the gender of nouns, masculine or feminine. Professor Vinay and Rena Berzin come upon comedian Jacques Zouvi handling an imaginary traffic situation, and French words relating to automobiles and traffic are taught.

Heritage

My Brother's Keeper. Exploring the attitude of the churches towards National Health Insurance.

The Twentieth Century

The Plots Against Hitler. Part 2. A detailed account of the famous July 29, 1944 plot to kill Hitler at his headquarters in Rastenburg, East Prussia. The man picked to plant the bomb, which killed four men but spared Hitler, was Count Klaus von Stauffenberg, assisted by Axel von dem Bussche. There are scenes of the plotters' trials and also of Ploetzenses Prison, which is now a memorial, where many conspirators were executed.

The Sixties

Second of two programs looking at the life and work of David Mackenzie Ogilvy, an Englishman, who turned a $6,000 shoestring advertising agency into a $59 million business in a year.

The plots to assassinate Adolf Hitler are recalled Sunday on The Twentieth Century.

Some of Those Days

A salute to the early twenties. All the regulars are there and include: Lorraine McAllister, Roma Hearn, Betty Hilker, Barney Potts, Pat Morgan and Harry Price and his orchestra. Host is Bill Bellman. Film clips show such prominent personalities as Leon Trotsky, Maxim Gorky, and Lady Astor.

Hazel

Scheherazade and her Frying Pan. Hazel invades the hide-away of a big time gangster where her friend, Gracie, works as a maid and together they attempt an escape.

Bonanza

Ponderosa Matador. A visiting senorita involves the Cartwright brothers in hilarious but dangerous hi-jinks with an angry bull.

Horizon

Filmed interviews by George Ronald with five Canadian families who consider themselves poor. The program points out that these are not isolated cases, but represent "another Canada" to affluent Canadians. Host is J. Frank Willis. (Repeat of a program seen last year.)

CBWT—Desilu Playhouse

Chain of Command. Starring Hugh O'Brien, Martin Milner, John Doucette, Russ Collins, and Karl Swenson.

A drama of life in the new United States Army, centred around a newly commissioned officer.

Playdate:

The Man Who Could Find Things

ANOTHER SUSPENSE drama by British writer Paul Lee, whose Nannie was a CBC-TV highlight 18 months ago, will be offered on Playdate Monday night, January 13, at 9:00 p.m. It's The Man Who Could Find Things, which, after its first performance in Britain, prompted one critic to suggest that Lee be chained to his typewriter to ensure more of the same skillful fare. Production is by Basil Coleman. The cast features Peter Donat as Stephen, Patricia Collins as the Woman, Ivor Barry as the Man, Tony Van Bridge as the Doctor, John Horton as Henry, and Michael Learned as Kate.

As the title suggests, Stephen has the knack for foretelling what will happen next. When his friends lose something, he can usually find it, or if a pal is undecided about whether to phone a girl, Stephen can foretell that the call will be made—and that wedding bells will result.

Because this gift can be time-consuming, he has put it into cold storage temporarily so he can get on with writing the draft of a play while his wife is away on a visit. He's interrupted by a girl who has come over the rooftop in a storm and who claims to be a British agent whose life is in danger. He hides her when two callers appear: a man claiming to be her husband, and a doctor, who tell a different story—that she's a potentially dangerous mental patient. While Stephen is undecided about which story to believe, the girl escapes.

The play moves along quickly to reveal whether her story is true—and it ends with an intriguing twist.

Program Notes

JANUARY 14

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and addit'l program information

National School Telecasts

Your World. A series of 20 ten-minute programs which deal with people and events of current and general significance.

This week, the second of the series which explores the lands of Central and South America.

CBXT—Gale Storm

A baby smuggled aboard the Ocean Queen complicates a honeymoon cruise so Susanna attempts playing nursemaid to the little stowaway.

CBWT—Gale Storm

After two years at sea, Susanna returns to San Diego for a dramatic reunion with her parents.

Take Thirty

1. Kim Mahood does some exercises for winter muscles.
2. Special guest Dr. James Key, a cardiovascular specialist, talks about varicose veins.

Hosts are Paul Soles and Anna Cameron.

Fireball XL-5

The Forbidden Planet. Professor Matic's new invention makes contact with a supposedly perfect planet.

Come Listen Awhile

Special guest is Ernie Prentice. Regulars include George Calangis and his orchestra, Bud Spencer, and Pat Trudell.

CBWT—Eye to Eye

Wedding at Cook's Creek. "A Ukrainian wedding"—the term has become synonymous, in the minds of non-Ukrainians, with festivity and merry-making, extravagant gift-giving and equally extravagant partying.

How has this respected and much-admired Ukrainian tradition survived the test of transplanting to our cold Canadian clime? Is it still celebrated in the old ways, and with the same gusto? To find out, Eye to Eye takes viewers on a filmed visit to a rural Manitoba community. There the CBC film crew recorded the story of a typical Ukrainian wedding, as it's celebrated nowadays. As well, viewers will be given a close look at the church in which the wedding ceremony was performed.

The community is the village of Cook's Creek, which lies a few miles east of Winnipeg. The church is the spectacular Ukrainian Catholic Church of the Immaculate Conception, which has taken several decades to build.

Producers, Frank Rasler and Lorne Wallace.

CBXT—An Age of Kings

Richard III, Acts 3, 4, and 5. At Richard's instigation, the leaders of the Queen's party are arrested and beheaded and Richard thus becomes Richard III. He insults his loyal ally Buckingham, and later has him arrested and executed. Buckingham's death has repercussions and it is Richard's turn to die. Henry Tudor, Earl of Richmond accepts the crown as Henry VII.

CBC Newsmagazine

Includes film of the closing of the Studebaker plant at South Bend, Indiana, and interviews with the mayor of South Bend and the Studebaker family head, Mrs. J. M. Studebaker

III. The cars now will be made in Canada exclusively.

Quest

The Bathroom. A comedy by Eric Nicol, the well-known Vancouver humourist. Through the portals of the Rosedale Nursing Home in Vancouver pass the world's most forgettable people, the aged. The latest guest comes to his new home utterly devoid of hope, but he meets Carter who insists that growing old isn't a mistake, and that life is still worth living.

Cast: Ruth Springfield as Mrs. Labelle; Mervyn Blake as Bailey; and Eric House as Carter. Produced by George McCowan.

IRAN: THE KING'S REVOLUTION

killed Iran might well erupt into the bloody revolution which he is trying to bring about peacefully.

Iran is one of the oldest countries in the world. Some 2,500 years ago it was the land of the Persians, a great imperial power which spanned from Europe to Asia. It was the second oldest civilization, rich in trade, in arms and in a sophisticated culture. Then, in the passing of history, the empire decayed, the leaders were corrupted, the land was invaded and despoiled and Persia became merely another backward Middle Eastern kingdom. The final link with a splendid past was broken when ancient Persia was re-named Iran.

Although the Shah's dynasty is short—his father seized the Peacock Throne in 1925—he feels that he is the inheritor of a proud royal tradition. And he has learned the one inescapable lesson of Iran's history, that the country has prospered and advanced only under strong and enlightened kings.

In A King's Revolution, the Shah is interviewed, and one of his statements reveals how he came to emulate the example of the early Persian rulers. "When I was a young boy in Switzerland, making my studies," he says, "I was thinking to myself that if, one day, I had a say in the affairs of my country, I would try my best to raise the standards of living of my people, and of our society, to the level of the modern countries of the world."

Program Notes

JANUARY 15

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and add'l program information

Western School Telecasts

Preserving the Past. Program 2: Lower Fort Garry. A glimpse at the activities of the fur traders of the 1830s, in a setting of Lower Fort Garry, located north of Winnipeg. Perry Rosemond, producer.

CBXT—Gale Storm

Susanna and Nugey come to a parting of the ways when Susanna corrects her friend in the pronunciation of a word, just when Nugey is attempting to become the ship's librarian.

Ladies First

Marriage counsellor Mitchell C. Neiman provides the food for thought and Mat Gauer provides the practical recipes on Ladies First today.

Take Thirty

Agota Gabor shows some new dancing steps, which is followed by a discussion on adoption and religion.

CBXT—Hi Teens

Host Mike Winlaw introduces a show for Edmonton teenagers with news, sports, and interview segments of interest to teenagers. Barbara Krause and Bruce Ferrier join the show each week as high school reporters. Producer, Don McRae.

CBXT—Gateway

Co-hosts Colin MacLean and Jim Mitchell present the regular Wednesday feature Farm Focus with CBC farm commentator Al Richardson. Today the South Edmonton cattle feedlot of Henry Elsing will be featured.

CBWT—An Age of Kings

The Band of Brothers. (Henry V, Acts 4 and 5). On the eve of battle, the King searches his soul. The battle brings vindication and victory. Peace is sealed when Henry woos and wins the attractive Katherine in marriage.

CBXT—Reach for the Top

Eight youngsters representing Edmonton and district high schools form two panel teams to compete in a quiz for prizes and awards. The Quizmaster is Colin MacLean. Producer, Don McRae.

Red River Jamboree

A great many of the songs and legends of the old west found their beginnings in the American Civil War, and tonight on Jamboree we examine some of them.

Features host Stu Phillips and regulars Peggy Neville, The Altones, Ted Komar and the Selkirk Settlers, and Joe Johansson and The Valley Beaux and Belles.

The Ballad of the Blue and Grey Stu
Two Brothers Peg
The Battle Hymn of the Republic Altones
Under the Double Eagle Ted Komar and his Band

Intertel

Iran, The King's Revolution. The story of the reforms which have been brought about in Iran by the 44-year-old Shah, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi. The Shah appears on the program and explains his attempts to bring Iran into the 20th century.

Strangers for the Day

A perceptive look at fellow travelers in an immigrant train. The immigrants arrive in Halifax from Italy, France, Germany, and Syria. They board the train and then proceed across Canada to their various destinations.

To pass the time they sing, reminisce, share doubts and hopes, and gaze at Canada's scenery as it flashes by.

Written and directed by Georges Dufaux and Jacques Godbout, with the filming by Gilles Gascon and Georges Dufaux.

CBXT—En France

A series of interest to students of French. John visits the famous Flea-Market, which has its counterpart in London's Petticoat Lane, and which also has an extremely varied collection of pseudo antiques, unbelievable junk, and the occasional rare treasure.

Program Notes

JANUARY 16

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and addit'l program information

National School Telecasts

Samuel de Champlain. Second in a series of five half-hour programs describing the efforts and achievements of explorers who have played a major role in Canadian history.

CBXT—Gale Storm

A company detective aboard ship must keep his identity a secret from everyone in order to spy on a card sharp.

Take Thirty

1. Betty Nickerson, Winnipeg broadcaster and traveller, talks about her recent visit to Czechoslovakia.

2. Jean Morrison reports the findings of the Consumers Association of Canada on the steam iron.

CBWT—Biography

George Marshall. As a dedicated professional soldier, Marshall rose to the highest post a military man can hold by the time World War 2 began. He was Chief of Staff, with wide responsibility for the most massive war effort in his nation's history.

George Marshall had a great sense of duty and honour, which was reflected both in his personal life and in his career as a soldier and a statesman. Newsreel films recall his career.

CBXT—Citizen James

The Money. Sid's girl friend entrusts him with a large amount of money to take to the bank. Sid uses the money to bet on a horse, and the results prove comic.

The Serial

The Wings of Night. Episode 7. Following an inquest into Steve's death, Neil is committed to trial for manslaughter. Peter Carr, Neil's defence counsel, warns him that he could be charged with murder if word of the quarrel with Steve came to light. Neil's grandmother, grief-stricken by the events, fails rapidly. Tally, who looks after the old lady, takes on a new importance in Neil's eyes.

Parade

Sing, Sing, Sing. Another in the choral series featuring the Gino Silvi Singers and guests Billy Van and Elan Stuart.

CBWT—Thriller

Waxworks. This is a story of murder in a travelling waxworks which goes from city to city, until it is halted so that Lt. Bailey and Sgt. Dene can investigate the death of Irene Colton.

Elan Stuart is seen with Billy Van and the Gino Silvi Singers Thursday on another in the Sing, Sing, Sing series on Parade.

CBXT—An Age of Kings

The Boar Hunt. (Richard III, Acts 3, 4, and 5.) At Richard's instigation, the leaders of the Queen's party are arrested and beheaded and Richard thus becomes Richard III. He insults his loyal ally Buckingham and later has him arrested and beheaded.

Buckingham's death has repercussions and it is Richard's turn to die. Earl of Richmond, Henry Tudor accepts the crown as Henry VII.

(This is a repeat of Tuesday night's episode.)

CBWT—Gale Storm

Susanna meets her dream man aboard the Ocean Queen but Captain Huxley has to phone Scotland Yard to get her out of trouble.

Ladies First

Mrs. Bessie Moore, who not only believes that "Economic Illiteracy" can be dangerous but has done something about it through the Arkansas State Council on Economic Education is special guest today.

Take Thirty

Special guest is Dr. Walter Penfield, eminent neuro-surgeon.

A second guest, Fran McHale of the London Senior Citizens Organization, tells about the needs of older people.

CBXT—Tales of the Riverbank

A series for young and old alike featuring actual animals who act out stories and situations.

Today, Bubbles. Hamster's two nephews steal Uncle Roderick's pipe, soap and pail for the purpose of blowing bubbles.

CBXT—Stu Davis

Today Stu tells a story entitled The Barbed Wire Fence, and sings Riding On The Rocky Range.

Hollywood and the Stars

Teenage Idols. A series of half-hour documentary films with host and narrator Joseph Cotten.

Telescope

Sea Fare. Filmed by CBC cameramen from Halifax and St. John's, Newfoundland, Sea Fare is a portrait of nostalgia for the danger, adventure, excitement and fun of seagoing as it once was.

Two old salts, Captain "Peg-Leg" McKenzie and Captain "Machine Gun" Kelly reminisce about their lives at sea. Captain McKenzie vividly describes being torpedoed in the Pacific during the last war, while Captain Kelly, a former R.C.M.P. officer, recounts his adventures while chasing rum-runners during the days of prohibition.

The program also includes film of the Portuguese bankers, the last big working sailships in the world, as they make their annual pilgrimage to the Grand Banks.

Script is by Farley Mowat, Canadian author and outdoorsman, who now lives in Newfoundland, and the host is Fletcher Markle.

Animal Actors Shine In Children's Program

HAMMY THE HAMSTER and Roderick the rat are the stars of Tales of the Riverbank, a series of children's programs seen Fridays at 4:30 p.m., on CBWT and CBXT.

The films, made in Toronto by Dave Ellison and Paul Sutherland, depict the adventures of the two animal friends and their riverbank neighbours, including Mr. Guinea Pig, Mr. Squirrel, Mrs. Hen, Mrs. Duck and many others. All the animals are shown in their natural surroundings, say the producers, "except that they move around in boats, cars, balloons and airplanes; and, of course, their homes are completely furnished."

How are the animals trained to act so well? They aren't. The secret of their "acting" lies in infinite patience, vast amounts of film, shooting at double normal camera speed to slow down movements, and waving hands and shouting off camera to attract the animals' attention to some desired spot.

Tricks also are used to make the animals "act." When Roderick the rat appears to be reading a newspaper, for instance, he may really be sniffing at cheese smeared on the paper by the enterprising producers.

Program Notes

January 11

9:45 a.m.—Hobby Club

(10:00 a.m. on CBX)

Host: Percy Saltzman. Regulars: philatelist Doug Patrick, photography expert Irvine Brace, and coin collector Sam Solomon.

11:00 a.m.—Matinee Highlights

1. British Wit and Stupidity, an item from England by Canadian actor and humourist Don Harron dealing with the wit and stupidity of the English character as shown at Hyde Park Corner and other places.

2. An item by broadcaster Lawrence Nowry about how senior citizens exist and budget. He interviews members of the Second Mile Club in Toronto.

2:00 p.m.—Metropolitan Opera

La Traviata (The erring one)—opera in four acts, by Verdi. From the Dumas Films novel, La Dame aux Camelias.

Starring soprano Joan Sutherland.

Characters in the cast include: Violetta Valery—soprano; Flora Bevoise—soprano; Annina, servant—mezzo-soprano; Alfredo Germont—tenor; Germont aine, his father—baritone; Gaston de Letorieres—tenor; Baron Douphol—baritone; Marquis d'Orbigny—baritone; Dr. Grenvil—bass; Joseph, servant. Place: Paris and vicinity.

Act I. A lively party in the house of Violetta, who has abandoned herself to a life of pleasure. About her are light-hearted and high-living young men and women as careless as she. Young Alfredo Germont is presented to her and he at once succumbs to the charm of the frail but beautiful creature. She is touched by his sincerity. Feeling a new and pure love in her heart, she realizes for the first time the shallowness of her life and the moral ignominy of her position. Coughing spells indicate that she is a victim of consumption.

Act II. A country house near Paris three months later. Alfredo and Violetta are happy together. But Alfredo discovers by accident that Violetta has been secretly selling her possessions so as to maintain their establishment. Determined to end this situation he leaves for Paris. His father arrives and finds Violetta alone. He tells her that his son's liaison with her is injurious to him in the eyes of the world. Also it will prevent Alfredo's sister from marrying a wealthy noble. Deeply touched, Violetta resolves to sacrifice her own happiness and leaves the house after writing a farewell note to Alfredo. He returns to the house to receive it and to listen to an appeal from his father.

Change of scene. A salon in the hotel of Flora, one of Violetta's friends, during a fete. Alfredo again meets Violetta, now under the protection of the Baron Douphol. Unaware of her sacrifice he bitterly reproaches her and in the presence of the entire company flings the money he has won at the gaming table at her feet.

Act III. Violetta's chamber. She has returned home to die of the wasting

Program Notes

January 12

8:35 a.m.—Postmark U.K.

(8:30 a.m. on CBX)

John Twitchin finds a noisy, colourful market, a curiously designed old bridge, and an old established chain works at Pontypridd. The town is the shopping and recreational centre for the south Wales mining valleys of the Rhondda. He hears about the depression in the 1930's, when many residents of Pontypridd emigrated to North America, and interviewees tell him of the non-conformist tradition of the area. Finally, the story of the extraordinary modern Druid, Dr. William Price.

9:03 a.m.—Sunday School of the Air

The Lord's Prayer. Second of a series moderated by the Rev. Ken Moffatt, Wesley United, Winnipeg, and written by the Rev. Doug Lauchlan, Saskatoon. This week: Prayer Remembering.

Storyteller is Norm Micklewright. Hymns by St. Andrew's River Heights junior choir, Winnipeg, led by Mrs. Marie Enns, with accompaniment by Mrs. Helen Houston. W. H. Randall, producer.

3:30 p.m.—Church of the Air

The service will originate from St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Ottawa, conducted by the Rev. A. F. Conrad.

4:30 p.m.—I.Q.

The schools competing are the Harrison Trimble High School and Moncton High School.

5:00 p.m.—Project '64

An insight into deafness by Lloyd MacInnis from Halifax. He interviews parents and teachers of the deaf, and speaks to a man who was born deaf and has learned to speak.

6:00 p.m.—Points West

Reflecting political, cultural and social happenings in Western Canada, through interviews, talks, opinion broadcasts and actuality reports. Includes re-creations of the past and up-to-date analyses.

7:10 p.m.—Weekend Review

The speaker is Donald Gordon of the department of political science at the University of Alberta.

8:45 p.m.—The Serpent's Coil

A documentary of one of the most dramatic salvage operations in the history of the Maritimes, based on Farley Mowat's book of the same title. The program is a reconstruction of the incident with interviews with Maritimers concerned. Produced by Barry Morgan.

10:10 p.m.—In Reply

Frank Willis answers questions about CBC programming sent in by listeners.

Crashing the Barrier of Silence

PSYCHO-GALVANIC skin resistance audiometry is opening up an exciting new world of communication for hundreds of isolated, frustrated children and adults at the Hearing and Speech Clinic in Halifax, the first and only one of its kind in the Atlantic provinces, which was opened a year ago. Its overall function is to treat hearing problems and provide therapy and hearing aids. Its major goal is to diagnose hearing difficulties at as early an age as possible, even at one year.

On Sunday, January 12, at 5:00 p.m., radio's Project '64 presents a program about the Clinic, and about a man who is one of the world's best examples of what patience and proper speech training methods can accomplish with a deaf child. Prepared by Lloyd MacInnis, under the title of The Barrier of Silence, the program shows children of five and under receiving speech instruction, and tells the story of current methods and attitudes in teaching deaf children to talk. Program editor is Dita Vadron.

The main interviewee will be Richard E. Thompson, deaf from birth, whose parents fortunately recognized his handicap when he was very young. They and some dedicated teachers enabled him to become independent and self-reliant at a fairly early age. Now, at 34, he is clinical psychologist at the Beverley School for the Deaf in Massachusetts, and is working on his Ph.D. thesis.

MacInnis first met him when Thompson was guest speaker at the opening of the Alexander Graham Bell Museum in Baddeck. Hearing Thompson's clear, easy speech, MacInnis couldn't believe he was deaf, so he made a point of finding out more about him in a series of tape-recorded talks. Technicians and editors who listened to the tapes thought Thompson must have a very slight speech defect, but it didn't occur to them that they were listening to a deaf man who had been taught speech through a mechanical system of breath control, and by watching the position of his teachers' lips, tongue and teeth. He is much in demand as a guest speaker in the U.S.

In the Project '64 program he reminisces about his childhood, tells the story of his struggle to learn to speak and how he copes with his handicap, how others react to him, and about times when others have thoughtlessly made him feel "different." Also heard on the program are Thompson's parents and some of his teachers.

8:00 p.m.—Assignment

The Minister of Education for Gibraltar, P. Ima, and the Mayor of Gibraltar, J. Hassan, discuss with Jerry Cowan, Spain's claim that Gibraltar belongs to her.

8:30 p.m.—Running the Moon Race

A series of three documentaries dealing with the United States program to send a man to the moon. Object is to illustrate how a government mobilizes a country's scientific and technological resources to achieve such an aim. Prepared by William Hines, science editor of the Washington Star, who writes and narrates the program.

Other contributors are: Space Administrator James E. Webb; NASA Plans Director DeMarquis D. Wyatt; Olin Teague, Chairman of the House manned space flight committee; Philip Abelson, editor of Science Magazine; and Senator William Fulbright, a close confidant of the late President Kennedy on the space program.

Music on Radio

9:10 a.m.—Morning Concert

(CBW only)

Recorded music prepared by Norm Micklewright. The I Musici perform:

Concerto in D minor, (Madrigalesco), for strings and cembalo Vivaldi
Concerto in D minor for viola d'amore, strings and cembalo
Vivaldi
Concerto in D major for violin and strings Vivaldi

7:45 p.m.—Song Recital

Features mezzo-soprano Rolande Garnier, and pianist Ted Lincoln. The term "vocalise" is one that is applied to melodies specifically written as exercises for the singing voice. The melodies are sung to any vowels at the discretion of the teacher. For this recital mezzo-soprano Rolande Garnier has chosen to sing four "vocalises" that are treated as a serious art song form. The Italian broad "ah" vowel is generally preferred by the composers in performance. Edward Lincoln is the accompanist. Produced by Benjamin Horch.

Vocalise Rachmaninoff
Vocalise Georges Hue
Vocalise Albert Roussel
Piece En Form
de Habenera Maurice Ravel

9:30 p.m.—Distinguished Artists

Features lutenist and guitarist Julian Bream.

Lute Pieces:

Walsingham Francis Cotting
Greensleeves Francis Cotting

The Race To the Moon

THE GOAL: to place a man on the moon, announced in 1961 by the late President John F. Kennedy. How does a nation, once it has committed itself to such a challenging project, go about mobilizing its forces to attain success?

Three half-hour radio documentaries, to be heard Mondays, January 13, 20 and 27 at 8:30 p.m., will tell of the immense problems and preparations involved in the U.S. Government's efforts to prove its mastery over space. Running the Moon Race will trace the many facets of the project—from obtaining the consent and financial support of Congress to recruiting scientists and engineers to run feasibility tests, prepare plans, assign and supervise contracts and handle a thousand other functions.

Mezzo-soprano Rolande Garnier is heard at 7:45 p.m. on Song Recital.

Mignarda John Dowland
Queen Elizabeth's
Galliard John Dowland
Pavane William Byrd
Galliard William Byrd

Guitar Pieces:

Prelude, Siciliana and Fugue J. S. Bach
Homenaje pour le tombeau
de Debussy De Falla
Prelude Villa Lobos

A vital consideration in the ten-year project is that civilian life will not be unduly interfered with—for instance, professional and technical personnel must not be hired to the detriment of universities, research establishments and schools, already facing a shortage of such qualified people. The project, to employ up to 200,000, will spend $40 billion over a decade, and these expenditures must be planned carefully to avoid overloading the manufacturing and technical facilities of the nation.

William Hines, science editor of the Washington Star, has prepared the programs and narrates them. He interviewed many of the key people in business and government in the U.S., including space administrator James E. Webb; NASA plans director D. D. Wyatt; Representative Olin Teague, chairman of the House manned space flight sub-committee; Philip Abelson, editor of Science Magazine; Senator William Fulbright; and the late President John F. Kennedy.

The Goon Show Invades Radio

SOME YEARS AGO The Goon Show burst upon an unsuspecting radio public like a volcano. Many adored it, some abhorred it, but few ignored it. Since the heyday of Goonery, the chief practitioners of the zany art—Peter Sellers, Harry Secombe and Spike Milligan—have achieved individual fame, and it is rare for all three to be in the same country at one time (which is just as well, perhaps, for the country concerned). Consequently no new Goon Shows have been produced for several years.

However, the BBC has combed its record libraries and come up with a number of recorded examples of Goonery at its best, guaranteed to please all Goonophiles with a goodly sampling of fantastic nonsense and inane characterization. A new weekly series of these rediscovered gems begins on CBC Radio, Sunday, January 5, at 6:30 p.m.

Julian Bream

On Lute and Guitar

JULIAN BREAM, a Cockney of 30 who plays the guitar and lute with virtuoso technique and has been blowing the dust off Elizabethan music in concert halls around the world for a decade or so, ended his first North American tour with his Consort last month, and headed for home, leaving behind a recorded recital which will be heard in CBC Radio's Distinguished Artists series on Monday, January 13, at 9:30 p.m. He plays works by Francis Gotting, Dowland and William Byrd on the lute, and three works on guitar by Bach, De Falla and Villa Lobos.

Bream believes that Elizabethan music should be treated as dance music, and pays no attention to critics who think he plays early music too fast.

"Most people have no rhythm from their toenails up," he complained in New York recently to reporter Howard Klein of the Times. "When I play I try to give the rhythms the zest the old boys would have. I may be off, and if old Thomas Morley came back and heard me he might well say 'Look here, Bream, it's a bit quick and a bit slick.' But that's the way I see it. This is a great age of book-wormery. Not that I don't have respect for the musicological boys, but I'm a performer. When you play, damn the scholarship! You've got to make the stuff sound alive!"

Bream's father was a jazz guitarist. Bream says "My god was then, and is now, the jazz guitarist Django Reinhardt. He died in '53. I never met him, but knew all his records. Such rhythm and spontaneity! I started guitar when I was 10 and had two lessons with Andres Segovia when I was 14. I admire the old man very much.

"I've had no schooling. I was evacuated twice from London during the war, which interrupted my schooling, and then I quit altogether when I was 14. I've loved the lute since I was a kid and had been playing it for some years before switching from guitar. Thomas Goff, the harpsichord maker, offered to make me a lute when I met him. I was 17 then, and it was to be my first. We found a 16th-century lute in the Victoria and Albert Museum and had it X-rayed to figure out the complicated conglomeration of struts and ribs inside. We couldn't very well tear museum property to pieces. He made a beautiful copy, and we use it in the Consort."

Betty Robertson, whose next appearance on CBC-TV's Parade is slated for February, will head south shortly afterwards. In March, she has a two-week engagement at Guy Lombardo's Ports of Call in St. Petersburg, Florida, and from there she will proceed to the island of Aruba, south of Puerto Rico, for a two-week club engagement.

8:30 p.m.—Christian Frontiers

Heavens Alive. The first of four lectures by Dr. Roger Pilkington, a layman concerned in using both the insights of Christian faith and the scientific method.

Science vs. Religion: A Real Conflict?

"WHEN MINISTERS TELL their congregations that the prime requirement of the Christian is to have faith as a little child, I am uneasy. . . . If one is to hold a belief, then that belief must be in harmony with one's experience, or at least it must not be contradicted by reason."

That quotation is taken from World Without End, a book by Dr. Roger Pilkington which has been described as "an account of how a scientist has looked fearlessly at his Christian beliefs and drawn encouragement, rather than doubt, from even the most startling discoveries of modern science."

There is no doubt that Dr. Pilkington is familiar with these "startling discoveries." After study at Freiburg University in Germany and at Magdalen College, Cambridge, he obtained his Ph.D. in science at Cambridge in 1942, and from 1937 to 1945 he worked as a research associate at that university. He has written many books and articles on various aspects of science, and since 1960 has served as science editor for a major publishing firm.

But it is as a writer and speaker on religious subjects that he comes under discussion this week. The first of four talks by Dr. Pilkington will be heard on CBC Radio's Christian Frontiers, Wednesday, January 15, at 8:30 p.m.

In the talks, Dr. Pilkington will bring to CBC Radio listeners some of the views he has expressed in his many books on the relationship between science and Christianity. Like such writers as C. S. Lewis and J. B. Phillips, both of whom have praised his work highly, Dr. Pilkington is a deeply religious layman who has written widely about Christianity, with the emphasis on logical, common-sense themes that are of interest to Christian and non-Christians alike.

Dr. Pilkington tackles the problems presented by apparent discrepancies between Darwinian evolution and Biblical teaching in his first talk, on January 15. An excerpt from that lecture gives an indication of his thinking as revealed throughout the series: "I think we are very fortunate if science is helping us to realize at last that our image of God is inadequate. On the whole, Christians have been well aware of this for some time, and they are by no means so tied to the apron-strings of the stained-glass window and Hymns Ancient and Modern — but mostly ancient — as some people like to think. In our own day, many laymen and clergy are energetically trying to grapple with the business of providing a more adequate picture of God, one which can measure up to the immensity of the universe and the brilliance of its inherent qualities."

Richard Monette, 19, recently announced to play Hamlet at Toronto's Crest Theatre in January, made his professional acting debut in David Gardner's Playdate production, With My Head Tucked Underneath My Arm, this fall.

Music on Radio

9:10 a.m.—Morning Concert
(CBW only)

Recorded music prepared by Norm Micklewright. Philharmonia Orchestra conducted by Lorin Maazel performs:

Pictures at an

Exhibition Moussorgsky-Ravel

7:35 p.m.—Recital in Miniature

Tom Elliott, principal bassoonist with the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra, plays two sonata which are described by the publisher's music editor as being "full of charm, musicality and good health." The two brief contemporary pieces for unaccompanied bassoon explore three musical qualities that could be described as the improvisational, as musical display and a concentrated mood of ethno-musical derivation. The harpsichord accompaniments will be performed by Travis Grimes.

10:05 p.m.—Parade of Choirs

The choir featured this week is the Winnipeg Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America. Today with 30,000 adult chorister members the organization is undoubtedly the largest and the most "singinest" musical group in North America.

The Winnipeg Chapter of the Society is already 15 years old, and it was the first one in Western Canada. Its members come from all walks of life, with only one thing in common—their love of the old songs and their familiar brand of harmonizing. They number 64 voices, conducted by Dick Wells, A.R.C.M.

Terry Dale, who is remembered as the vocalist on radio's Wayne and Shuster Show of another decade, is guest Thursday at 1:15 p.m. on What's On Tapp?

Producer Benjamin Horch, after auditioning the chorus, said, "Make no mistake about it, the Winnipeg chapter of the SPEBSQSA is a crack choral unit, singing with perfect intonation, impeccable diction and the kind of fervent dedication that can arouse even the most jaded ear to a new kind of musical excitement."

New Features On Radio's Assignment

TWO NEW regular features have been added to Assignment, CBC Radio's week-night magazine programs, heard at 8:00 p.m. On Tuesdays, Mavor Moore, the well-known actor, writer and producer, will be heard giving capsule comments on a variety of topics in a feature entitled The Canadian Scene. Moore's experience as producer of Toronto's annual revue, Spring Thaw, will no doubt stand him in good stead as he makes satirical stabs at such subjects as Separatism, the Canadian flag, and other subjects on which there has been a good deal of controversy.

The other new feature, to be heard Fridays, is called A Corner for the Blind. Mary Haws, a blind person herself, will provide information, interview guests, and chair discussions on topics of particular interest to sightless persons.

The Winnipeg Barbershop Chorus, members of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, are heard Thursday at 10:05 p.m. on CBC Radio's Parade of Choirs.

Spices may be sifted with flour.

The Twentieth Century

The Plots To Kill Hitler

Between the time German Panzer divisions penetrated Poland in 1939, and the fiery fall of their own Third Reich in 1945, there were five attempts to assassinate Adolf Hitler.

These attacks are outlined in a two-part documentary, The Plots Against Hitler, marking the return of The Twentieth Century series on CBC Television, Sunday, January 5 and 12, at 4:30 p.m.

Host for the series is Walter Cronkite, who introduces film on the court trials of the conspirators and the accounts of the few plotters who managed to survive.

The first program was to cover the Munich beer hall plot to kill Hitler in November, 1939. Interviewed were Albert Eckebrecht, German broadcasting technician who saw the incident, and R. H. Stevens, former British intelligence officer who was kidnapped by the Nazis and charged with instigating the beer hall plot.

The 1943 plot to plant a bomb aboard Hitler's plane, an attempt eight days later to assassinate Hitler at the Berlin arsenal and the incident of November, 1943, when a man was to kill both himself and the Nazi leader, also were covered. The man who volunteered for the latter assignment, Axel von dem Bussche, was interviewed.

The second portion of the plots against Hitler on January 12, details the famous July 1944 attempt to kill Hitler at his headquarters in Rastenburg, East Prussia (now Ketrzyn), Poland. The man selected to plant the bomb which killed four men but spared Hitler, was Count Klaus von Stauffenberg.

The story of the Count's long-time resistance, his hatred for the German dictator and what he had done to Germany, is told by his widow, Countess von Stauffenberg, and Axel von dem Bussche, an associate of von Stauffenberg.

There are also scenes of the trials and of Ploetzensee Prison (now a memorial), where many alleged conspirators were executed.

Below: Walter Cronkite, host of The Twentieth Century.
